

Essay Section

Student Draft (Scaffolded)

Instructions

INTRODUCTORY ¶	▽	N/A
	Transition to Thesis	N/A
	Thesis Statement	I like several types of , including [[category 1]] , [[category 2]] , and [[category 3]] .

- See Personal Narrative🌞📝🧐 Slides.

BODY ¶1	Topic Sentence 1	One type of [] I like is [category 1].
	Point 1	First, I like [name or concrete noun 1].
	Specific Evidence 1	[Add the context] [name or concrete noun 1] [sensory verb] [sensory adjective or adverb 1], [sensory verb] [sensory adjective or adverb 2], and [sensory verb] [sensory adjective or adverb 3].
	Explanation 1	I enjoy [name or concrete noun 1] because [explain how the sensory details made the experience enjoyable. This could be a collective impression or focused on one sense and what made it stand out].
	Point 2	Second, I like [name or concrete noun 2].
	Specific Evidence 2	[Add the context] [name or concrete noun 2] [sensory verb] [sensory adjective or adverb 1], [sensory verb] [sensory adjective or adverb 2], and [sensory verb] [sensory adjective or adverb 3].
	Explanation 2	I enjoy [name or concrete noun 2] because [explain how the sensory details made the experience enjoyable. This could be a collective impression or focused on one sense and what made it stand out].
	Point 3	Third, I like[name or concrete noun 3].
	Specific Evidence 3	[Add the context] [name or concrete noun 3] [sensory verb] [sensory adjective or adverb 1], [sensory verb] [sensory adjective or adverb 2], and [sensory verb] [sensory adjective or adverb 3].
	Explanation 3	I enjoy [name or concrete noun 3] because [explain how the sensory details made the experience enjoyable. This could be a collective

All Body Paragraphs
Parallelism
Use the same structure for items in a list or pattern.
✔ I like hiking, swimming, and biking.
✗ I like to hike, bike, and swimming.

Verb Tense
Keep your verb tense the same throughout the paragraph unless there’s a good reason (such as changes in time or meaning) to switch.
✔ I ate apricots, strawberries, and peaches. Also, I ate broccoli, cauliflower, and asparagus.
✗ I ate apricots, strawberries, and peaches. Also, I eat broccoli, cauliflower, and asparagus.
✔ I eat apricots, strawberries, and peaches. However, when I was in elementary school, I ate broccoli, cauliflower, and asparagus.

Body Paragraph 1: Sensory Words Focus

- Add context. Example:
 - I remember...
 - At my aunt’s house one night, we...
- For each description in “Specific Evidence,” use relevant words from the Word Bank;
 - Use at least three sensory words per example, one from different senses if possible (sight, smell, taste, touch, sound); and
 - Highlight those words.
- Example:
 - Pizza sizzled (hearing), smelled garlicky (smell), and looked golden-brown (sight).

Essay Section	Student Draft (Scaffolded)
	impression or focused on one sense and what made it stand out].

Instructions

BODY ¶2	Topic Sentence 2	Another type of I like is [category 2].
	Point 1	First, I like [name or concrete noun 1].
	Specific Evidence 1	[Add the context] [fresh modifier] [name or concrete noun 1] [vivid verb] [if the verb is transitive, there is no need to add anything more; if the verb is transitive, add either a direct object, such as a noun or noun phrase, or a short verb phrase, such as a prepositional phrase or modifier].
	Explanation 1	I enjoy [name or concrete noun 1] because [explain how the sensory details made the experience enjoyable. This could be a collective impression or focused on one sense and what made it stand out].
	Point 2	I also like [name or concrete noun 2].
	Specific Evidence 2	[Add the context] [fresh modifier] [name or concrete noun 2] [vivid verb] [if the verb is transitive, there is no need to add anything more; if the verb is transitive, add either a direct object, such as a noun or noun phrase, or a short verb phrase, such as a prepositional phrase or modifier].
	Explanation 2	I enjoy [name or concrete noun 2] because [explain how the sensory details made the experience enjoyable. This could be a collective

Concrete Noun + Fresh Modifier + Vivid Verb

- See Descriptive Writing - Simplified.
- For each description in “Specific Evidence,” highlight at least one example of each:
 - Concrete Noun
 - Fresh Modifier (Adjective or Adverb)
 - Vivid Verb
- Example:
 - On the plate at the restaurant, the crispy (fresh modifier) chicken sandwich (concrete noun) dripped (vivid verb) with spicy sauce.
- Your vivid verb should help your reader visualize the action without needing extra explanation.
- Examples:
 - Intransitive Verb (no object needed)
 - After school, the crispy fries sizzled.
 - Transitive Verb + Direct Object (noun or noun phrase)
 - At the carnival, the sticky cotton candy coated my fingers.
 - Transitive Verb + Verb Phrase (prepositional/modifying phrase)
 - On a rainy night, the buttery popcorn spilled onto the theater floor.

Essay Section	Student Draft (Scaffolded)		Instructions
		impression or focused on one sense and what made it stand out].
	Point 3	Last, I like [name or concrete noun 3] .
	Specific Evidence 3	[Add the context] [fresh modifier] [name or concrete noun 3] [vivid verb] [if the verb is transitive, there is no need to add anything more; if the verb is transitive, add either a direct object, such as a noun or noun phrase, or a short verb phrase, such as a prepositional phrase or modifier].
	Explanation 3	I enjoy [name or concrete noun 3] because [explain how the sensory details made the experience enjoyable. This could be a collective impression or focused on one sense and what made it stand out] .

BODY ¶3	Essay Section	Student Draft (Scaffolded)
	Topic Sentence 3	Finally, another type of I like is [category 3].
	Point 1	First, I like [name or concrete noun 1].
	Specific Evidence 1	[Add the context], [who?] [did what?] [when?] [where?] because [why?].
	Explanation 1	I enjoy [name or concrete noun 1] because [explain how the sensory details made the experience enjoyable. This could be a collective impression or focused on one sense and what made it stand out].
	Point 2	I also like [name or concrete noun 2].
	Specific Evidence 2	[Add the context], [who?] [did what?] [when?] [where?] because [why?].
	Explanation 2	I enjoy [name or concrete noun 2] because [explain how the sensory details made the experience enjoyable. This could be a collective impression or focused on one sense and what made it stand out].
	Point 3	Last, I like [name or concrete noun 3].
	Specific Evidence 3	[Add the context], [who?] [did what?] [when?] [where?] because [why?].
	Explanation 3	I enjoy [name or concrete noun 3] because [explain how the sensory details made the experience enjoyable. This could be a collective impression or focused on one sense and what made it stand out].

Instructions

5W Sentence Stretching

- For each description in “Specific Evidence,” use the 5W Sentence Stretching Method.
- Try answering all 5Ws (Who? What? When? Where? Why?) in one smooth sentence.
- Example:
 - On Saturday morning (when), I sat alone (who + what) on my porch (where), sipping hot chocolate (what), because I needed to relax after a long week (why)”
- Use the default order sentence frame unless something feels awkward or off-topic.
 - If you're writing about people, start with “who.”
 - If you're writing about things, places, or times, you might want to lead with “what,” “where,” or “when.”
- Alternative Sentence Frames
 - Topic is a Thing (video games, food, objects)
 - ➡ [When?], [what?] [verb] [where?], because [who?] [why?].
 - Example: Late at night, the glowing screen pulsed in my room because I couldn’t stop playing.
 - 🕒 Focus on Time (setting the scene)
 - ➡ [When?], [who?] [verb] [what?] [where?] because [why?].
 - Example: On Saturday morning, my sister baked cinnamon rolls in the kitchen because it was her turn to make breakfast.
 - 📍 Focus on Place (immersive setting)
 - ➡ [Where?], [who?] [verb] [what?] [when?] because [why?].
 - Example: At the arcade, I battled glowing

Essay Section

Student Draft (Scaffolded)

--	--	--

CONCLUSORY ¶	Conclusory Statement	These are some of the several types of I like.
	△	N/A

Instructions

aliens after school because I needed to beat my high score.

○

🗨️

Emphasis on Motivation (the “Why”)

■

➡

Because

[why?]

,

[who?]

[verb]

[what?]

[when?/where?]

.

■

Example:

Because I was hungry, I grabbed a gooey grilled cheese sandwich during lunch.